December 1989

THE HOLIDAYS AT FORT MASON CENTER

Folk Art International presents the tenth annual exhibit and sale for Christmas, in the Conference Center, Building A, from November 18 through December 28. This holiday tradition is a collector's paradise, offering thousands of handmade artifacts gathered from villages and marketplaces all over the world. Proceeds from this sale help fund two important humanitarian programs. Overseas, 37 successful water wells have been drilled in drought-stricken Dogon villages in the Republic of Mali. At home, educational programs have reached more than 5,000 teachers and 60,000 students by lending folk art objects and related teaching materials to schools and art centers in Northern California.

This year, a portion of revenues will be donated to The Salvation Army for earthquake relief, in addition to the water well drilling and Resources for Education programs. Hours are 10am to 8pm Tuesday through Saturday, and 10am to 6pm Sunday and Monday (closed Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day). Admission and parking are free. For information, call 673-4094.

Handcrafted wooden birds and traditional Japanese baskets are among the unusual folk art objects available at the Folk Art International Sale.

Celebration of Crafswomen, The Women's Building's 11th Annual Arts and Crafts Fair, has moved to Fort Mason Center. The largest juried women's crafts fair in the country, the show presents over 135 women artists and craftswomen, plus many leading entertainers, representing the racial, cultural and ethnic diversity of the Bay Area. The Arts and Crafts Fair, a major annual fund-raising event for The Women's Building, takes place in the Herbst Pavilion and the Cowell Theater, Pier 2, on Saturday and Sunday, December 9-10 and 16-17, from 10am to 6pm.

Works on exhibit and for sale include jewelry, fiber arts, sculpture, ceramics, woodwork, mixed media, fine arts, children's items, and photography. Featured entertainers include Ladies Against Women, the Afro-Cuban group Conjunto Cespedes, and South African freedom singers Vukani Mawethu, among many others. Bodywork, psychic arts, informational booths, special children's programming, and free on-site childcare will also be available. Ethnic food will be on sale.

Tickets, available at the door, are $4.50 to $10 on a sliding scale. Admission is free for children under 12 and seniors 65 and over. There will be free parking at Crissy Field with a shuttle to Fort Mason; or call 673-MUNI for public transit information. For further information, call The Women's Building, 431-1180.

The Guardsmen's Annual Christmas Tree Sale again takes place in Fort Mason's Festival Pavilion, Pier 3, from November 25 through December 23. Hours are 9am to 9pm Monday through Friday, 8am to 9pm Saturday and Sunday. Admission is free.

For more than forty years, the Guardsmen, an organization of Bay Area business and professional men who raise money for children's charities, have transformed an ordinary tree lot into a magical Christmas experience. This is the organization's winter fundraiser, which helps send thousands of Bay Area underprivileged children to summer camp.

It's the largest Christmas tree lot in Northern California, and one of the largest in the Western United States, featuring more than 18,000 beautiful fresh-cut trees of many varieties and all sizes. A full line of Christmas accessories is also available, including tree stands, lights, ornaments, preservers, flocking, evergreen boughs, and mistletoe. Large trees, suitable for stores or offices, are also available. For further information, call 781-6785.

The Fort Mason Art Center Annual Holiday Show and Sale takes place on Saturday and Sunday, December 9 and 10, from 10am to 6pm. The Art Center, a part of the San Francisco Community College District, is located in Building B at Fort Mason Center. Works in a variety of media, including paintings, drawings, prints, ceramics, sculpture, stained glass, quilted items and soft sculpture, weaving and hand-loomed tapestry will be exhibited and offered for sale.

Over 1,000 students attend art classes each week. Since the Art Center opened fourteen years ago, each holiday show has attracted more participants and an ever-increasing audience. Parking, admission, and refreshments are free; there will be a Faculty Exhibit during the show, in the Coffee Gallery, located on the first floor of Building B. For further information, call 776-8247.

The San Francisco Craft & Folk Art Museum presents "Dolls As Mirrors of Culture," starting in November and continuing through December 31. Over 150 dolls from the Museum's permanent collection, representing more than forty countries, are on display for the holiday season.

The dolls represent the world's cultures in miniature. Costumes represent traditional and festival dress, everyday and work dress. Some dolls are elaborately attired in silks and lace with delicate porcelain faces; others, made for play, are of simple materials such as corn husks, dried grasses, wood and clay. An Alaskan doll is carved from the tip of an elk horn and dressed with bits of fur; a fisherman from Denmark is clad in a warm knitted sweater. Many of the dolls are musicians and dancers, while bride dolls reflect wedding customs and dress.

Upstairs, the Museum presents the extraordinary hand-drawn, hand-painted paper dolls by Satch La Valley, a costume historian and contributing editor/consultant to the Los Angeles County Museum exhibition of historical Hollywood costumes. The Craft & Folk Art Museum also presents a lecture on December 7, and special holiday performances for the family on December 9, in conjunction with this exhibit.

The Museum's Holiday Gift Shop, featuring a variety of contemporary crafts, ethnic and folk art from around the world, is open from November 24 through December 24, Monday through Friday, 11am to 7pm, Saturday, 10am to 7pm, and Sunday, 11am to 5pm. For further information, call 775-0990.

The Museo ItaloAmericano, in conjunction with Nordstrom San Francisco Centre, presents for the holiday season "The Wonderful World of Wooden Sculpture from the Bottega Michelangeli," from December 2 through January 29, 1990. On exhibit at the Museo are wooden sculptural inventions of the Bottega Michelangeli, a workshop whose history goes back six generations. These are whimsical sculptures and amusing tableaux, spoofing such venerable tales as the founding of Rome by Romulus and Remus, plus lifesize Pinocchio marionettes and a variety of animals, including giraffes, eagles, lions, and horses.

The exhibition opens with a Dolci Italiani (Italian Desserts) party on Friday, December 1, from 7 to 9pm. Admission to the party is $20. The Museo is located in Building C at Fort Mason, and is open Wednesday through Sunday, from noon to 5pm. It will be closed December 24, 25, and 31, and January 1. A variety of lovely gifts and handcrafts are available in the Museo's shop. For further information, call 673-2200.

In addition to these traditional Christmas shows, sales and events, there are many other opportunities for gift-giving or celebration at Fort Mason. There are other galleries and shops; there are art works for rent; there are memberships in a wide range of organizations; there are classes of all kinds, for all ages; there are theater tickets for outstanding performances; there are special events.

Look through the daily listings, the classes and workshops and galleries, the residents' directory. Within Fort Mason, you might find an appropriate gift for everyone on your list for this holiday season. Happy shopping!
